×

In an empty city, her steps echo like the beat of liberation.
Azaliia walks down empty city streets, leather boots echo, no defeat, eyes set on the horizon far, her spirit's free, a shooting star.

×

The chains are broken; her spirit is unleashed.
Freedom in the air, can you feel it? Breaking every chain that tried to steal it, riding on the wind, nothing can hold her down, screaming out her heart, tearing through the town.

×

Their music ignites the night, each beat a call to freedom.
Guitarist rips through notes so bold, Drummer's beat, a story untold, Bassist carries the rhythm's grace, this rock anthem, a wild embrace.

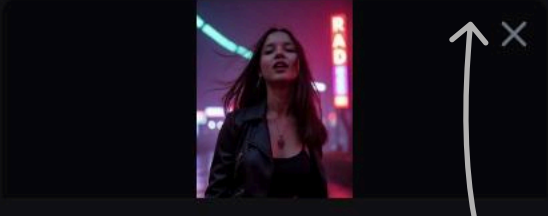

×

Her voice rises, a testament to unbridled freedom.
Freedom in the air, can you feel it? Breaking every chain that tried to steal it, riding on the wind, nothing can hold her down, screaming out her heart, tearing through the town.

×

Boundless skies, open roads; nothing can cage her spirit.
Skyscrapers rise but her soul's above, wide open fields, she's flying like a dove, motorcycle roar, the night's alive, in this rock symphony, she will survive.

×

In her song, the essence of freedom rings clear.
Freedom in the air, can you feel it? Breaking every chain that tried to steal it, riding on the wind, nothing can hold her down, screaming out her heart, tearing through the town.
